Saab Medav Technologies GmbH

In the process of integrating Medav into the Saab AB family , we have also decided to change the company name to which will be effective September 2015.

Saab Medav Technologies continues operations as a German „GmbH“. Saab Medav Technologies is committed to continue contractual arrangements as before. The name change in any way will not impact ongoing or potential future business relationships.

Any existing agreements between business partners will remain in full force and effect. This includes offers, offset and technology transfer proposals and confirmations.

Neither the company, nor the General Management, are changing any of the principal elements of its declared policy. Being cooperative, compliant, flexible and friendly defines the ethos and the understanding of every single Medav employee. We will continue to be a sustainable and reliable partner now and in the future. Saab will provide the best possible support for our business and activities.

We are looking forward to the future based of Medav’s reputation for quality products and as part of the Saab organization.
